The lost war on information security

14:00 - 15:00 friday 8/04/2016 - Sala Perugino, Hotel Brufani

Francesco Ongaro
ISGroup

It happened, software ate the world, we lost control over our information and security is not better than before. How to stem organized crime, corporations' and governments' appetite on data bubbles generated by Cloud computing? What can people realistically do? We will explore the major indicators of the current state of software security, its evolution over time and how the adoption trend of Cloud solutions affects the confidentiality, integrity and availability of people's and companies' information.
